Harvesting of potatoes is a painful process for farmers due to shortages and reduced productivity of labor.

The startup, under its brand "Agsense," has developed a Potato Mini Combine Harvester that solves the problem of labor shortages during harvest time. It combines all functionalities of digging, soil separation, weed/clod removal, and bagging.

All functions are incorporated in one machine, which helps in quick harvest (1 acre is harvested in 3 hours). The machine is affordable and easy to operate, with a payback period of 2-3 seasons.
